LAW ENFORCEMENT BODY TO REPORT MONDAY

CONGRESS THEN TO DEAL WITH THE SITUATION

WHITE HOUSE HAS NO INTEREST IN MANNER OF PARLIAM-
TARY PROCEDURE

DESIRES ONLY LEGISLATION TO DEAL WITH PROHIBITION
SITUATION

By KENNETH G. CRAWFORD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Jan. 10. — President Hoover will send the report of the law enforcement commission to congress next Monday to be dealt with in any legislative manner that congress may choose, it was learned at the White House today.

The White House made plain that it has no interest in the manner of parliamentary procedure adopted and desires only to expedite legislation to deal with the prohibition situation.

These facts were made known today following the action of house leaders in refusing to set up a joint congressional committee to receive the law enforcement commission's report. Such a committee already had been provided for by the senate.

Washington, Jan. 10. — The long-awaited preliminary report of President Hoover's law enforcement commission will be sent, without further delay, to congress in the form of a special message, it was believed here today, as a result of the action of house leaders in rejecting the president's plan for a joint congressional committee to receive the findings.

The proposal to create a joint committee of six members to work with the Wickersham commission was turned down by the house last night after the commission had wound up a three-day session without making public any of the results of its deliberations. The senate had previously approved the proposal, which had been recommended twice by the president.

The death sentence for the proposal was pronounced in a statement by Speaker Longworth, who declared that such a committee would involve further prolonged investigation of prohibition and undoubtedly would go far afield.

Longworth made it plain that the decision for open revolt was not his own, but represents the unanimous opinion of all the members consulted.

The statement follows: "There is no disposition to oppose specific legislation the administration may ask on the reorganization of prohibition agencies and their consolidation under the department of justice. Our decision not to authorize the appointment of a joint committee to consider these matters rests on a procedural basis.

"We have a method of handling legislation here that experience has shown to be satisfactory.

"In this case, we are asked to depart from that method and trust the consideration of bills to a special joint committee.

"Such a departure would involve delay. The proposed joint committee would have to cover a field more extensive than that in which the Wickersham commission has been conducting its investigations.

"If the Wickersham commission finds it impossible to report after six months, what reason is there to believe that the joint congressional committee could do better?

"Moreover, the investigation proposed in the resolution we have had under consideration would cover many subjects, on which the Wickersham commission has already touched.

"It seems far more expeditious to refer any bills that may be introduced affecting these matters to the regular committees. This is not my opinion in particular. It is the unanimous opinion of a large number of members of the house whom I have consulted."

GANG LEADER HAS SENSE OF HUMOR

Chicago, Jan. 10. — (U.P.) — Chicagoans today learned that George (Bugs) Moran, north side gang leader, has a sense of humor.

Two detectives, all dolled up in derbies and spats, spotted Moran yesterday. Moran, remembering the St. Valentine's Day murder party where the killers were stars, refused to be arrested until the police were identified by a third party he knew.

At the station the usual question was asked:

"What's your name?" "George E. Q. Johnson," he replied. Johnson is United States attorney. Down on the books went "George Moran, alias George E. Q. Johnson."

Moran and his company were released on bond.

FREIGHTER ASHORE NEAR BLOCK ISLAND

New York, Jan. 10. — (U.P.) — The freighter Edward Luckenbach was ashore on the southwest end of Block Island, according to a wireless from the ship relayed to the Radio Marine Corporation here today.

Two coast guard cutters, the Gresham and Henley, went to the ship's aid.

AIRMAIL LINE FROM ST. PAUL TO WINNIPEG PLANNED

Washington, Jan. 10. — (U.P.) — Establishment of an airmail line from St. Paul to Winnipeg, Canada, via Fargo, N. D., and Grand Forks, N. D., was recommended to Postmaster General Brown today by Second Assistant Postmaster General W. Irving Glover.

Glover has just returned from conferences with Canadian postal officers at Ottawa where the operation of the new routes between the two countries was discussed. He said the route recommended would connect in Canada with a proposed route extending from Winnipeg to Edmonton, Alberta.

NORTHWEST AUTO SHOW AT HAMLINE FEBRUARY 1 TO 8

PREPARING FOR GRAND OPEN- ING OF GREAT MINNEAPOLIS- ST. PAUL EXPOSITION

$15,000 DECORATIONS TO TRANS- FORM PAVILION INTO FAIRY- LAND OF LIGHT, COLOR

Hamline, Minn., Jan. 10. — This famous little hamlet is rapidly emerging from the hibernation it entered immediately after the close of the Minnesota State Fair last September.

The reason for the new lease of life is the noise and excitement caused in these parts by preparations for the 23rd annual Northwest Auto Show that will get underway the morning of Feb. 1st.

Decorators, carpenters, painters, plumbers, electricians and artisans of other lines swooped down on Hamline this week and they will keep things humming from now until the grand opening of the great Minneapolis-St. Paul exposition.

The biggest single job that faces the workers is the installing of $15,000 worth of decorations to transform the great, gaunt interior of the Livestock Pavilion into a fairyland of light and color. Those who visited the building during Fair Week will not recognize the place.

Stalls and stanchions that housed the prize cattle have all been removed and the moos of the contented kine have given way to the sound of hammers and saws. Last year's decorations made a deep impression on all the visitors to the Auto Show but plans formulated this year provide for a scheme of decoration far more lavish and pretentious than were in order for the big exposition of 1929.

Those who love the dance perhaps will get a kick out of knowing that the renowned Isham Jones and his famous orchestra will furnish the music in the dance hall each afternoon and evening. This world famous musical organization will receive the largest sum ever tendered a band at an automobile exhibition in the history of American motor car shows.

The new law is to go into effect on April 1, 1931.

Schaumberg-Lippe is a tiny principality surrounded by the Prussian provinces of Hanover and Westphalia. It has an area of 131 square miles and a population of 48,000 inhabitants.

'Mutt and Jeff Pair' of Bandits Rob State Bank of Lonsdale, Minn., of $10,000 Cash

CARRY REVOLVERS IN NERVOUSLY SHAKING HANDS

AN ACCOMPLICE WAITS AROUND THE CORNER OF BANK IN AUTOMOBILE

POSSE PURSUES CAR, BUT LOSES SIGHT OF BANDITS ON LYND- DALE AVENUE

Lonsdale, Minn., Jan. 10. — (U.P.) — Two hurried young bandits who carried revolvers in nervously shaking hands today locked three employees in the vault and robbed the State Bank of Lonsdale of $10,000 in cash.

An accomplice waited around the corner from the bank in an automobile that bore no license plates. The two robbers ran from the bank and leaped on the running board as the automobile started its flight toward Minneapolis, 45 miles away.

A hastily organized posse followed the bandit machine several miles but lost sight of it on Lyndale Avenue, a main arterial highway leading into Minneapolis.

The two robbers rushed into the bank shortly after opening time and commanded Thomas Skluzacek, cashier, and two assistants to lie face downward on the floor. Hastily they scooped up several bundles of currency, shouldered the employees into the vault and again dashed from the building.

Skluzacek described the robbers as "a Mutt and Jeff pair," one tall and slim, the other short and more portly. The other employees were John and Theodore Skluzacek, assistant cashier and clerk, respectively.

The cashier removed the lock from the inside of the vault, and, aided by excited spectators, escaped in a few minutes. E. W. Haveland, sheriff of Rice county, immediately notified authorities of the Twin Cities and of nearby towns.

Several witnesses said the bandit automobile was a latest model Ford

"Parrot Fever" in Baltimore

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 10. — (U.P.) — Four new cases of psittacosis, or "parrot fever," deadly South American miliary, were believed by the Baltimore health department to have been discovered here today.

coupe and that it was not equipped with license plates. The companion remaining in the car kept an intent watch, they said, apparently for a possible ambush.

Today's robbery recalled to residents here that the same bank was held up in a similar manner five years ago when $32,000 loot was obtained.

Lonsdale, Minn., is about 45 miles south and west of Minneapolis near trunk highway No. 3, known to residents there as Dodd Road or Lyndale Avenue. The town is seven miles west of the highway and has a population of about 600.

WAITING FOR WORD TO GO

Planes fueled and perfectly tuned, members of the First Pursuit Group stationed at Selfridge Field and commanded by Maj. Ralph Royce (inset), are all ready to take the air on a 3,500-mile test flight from Mount Clemens, Mich., to Spokane, Wash. The planes will keep in communication with land radio stations and with each other. Some of the fliers are (rear, left to right) Sergt. Guile, Lieuts. Rhudger, Shanahan and Sanders and (front, left to right) Sergt. Davis and Lieuts. Jacobs and Harrington.

BLOWING WATER ON LAUNDRY IS INSANITARY THING

Evanston, Ill., Jan. 10. — (U.P.) — Blowing water on laundry from the mouth may be an old Chinese custom but it is insanitary, ruled the health commissioner.

Health Commissioner John W. Pollard sent out notices warning against the practice. None of the 17 Chinese operating laundries could read the notices, however. So Fung Wu, a Northwestern university student, was asked to translate the notices into Chinese hieroglyphics.

He wrote: "Prohibition law says all who make sprinkling cans with their mouths will have their laundries padlocked."

"ARCTIC PATROL" OFF ON HARD TEST

THROWING CHALLENGE TO ALL THE ELEMENTS HAVE TO OFFER

Mt. Clemens, Mich., Jan. 10. — (U.P.) — Throwing a challenge to all the elements have to offer, 22 army airplanes of the "Arctic Patrol" today took off on what is to be the hardest test ever designed by the army for machines and men.

The route is to Spokane, Wash., and return. The purpose is to test winter flying conditions.

The trip probably is the most difficult and hazardous ever undertaken in peace time by an army squadron. The route is over a rough country with few facilities for emergency landings.

For once, however, the army is hoping for bad weather for a flight, for it is the mission of the junket to test new appliances and gather information on all phases of winter flying.

The planes are fitted with skis, and where landing fields are not covered with snow they will come down on ice-covered lakes.

Heaters for motors and motor covers will be tried as well as new devices to enable pilots to keep warm in low temperatures.

In the enclosed transport ships were enlisted men, a radio expert, a cameraman, and H. J. Adamson from the Washington war department office.

The radio station will be in constant communication with land stations during the flight. News of the flight will be sent to the Radio Relay League and the powerful General Electric Company's station at Schenectady, will stand by for the first ten minutes of each flying hour to receive any messages.

Major Ralph Royce, commander of First Pursuit Group, and in charge of the flight, took off at 8:57 o'clock. In quick order the 17 other fleet pursuit planes and the three heavier transports and an observation plane followed.

The takeoff was from the frozen surface of Lake St. Clair. The sky was clear for the first time in days. The temperature was ten above zero. The army had wanted bad weather for this test flight, but conditions were so bad Wednesday and Thursday that postponement of the takeoff was necessary.

The planes will be linked to earth by radio, one of the transports being equipped with a low wave sending and receiving set.

Today's first stop will be made at St. Ignace and tonight the 42 men on the trip expect to sleep in Duluth, Minn.

Engineer of Exploding Engine Still in a Serious Condition

Red Wing, Minn., Jan. 10. — (U.P.) — Harry Podas of Minneapolis, engineer who was injured in the explosion of a Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul freight train locomotive near here Thursday, still was reported in a serious condition at St. John's hospital today.

Both his legs were badly fractured and a deep gash cut over his eye, physicians said, but he was expected to recover.

Harry Donaldson, fireman, and William Farmer, brakeman, were reported recovering rapidly. Both were seriously burned on the hands and about the face.

PAID JANITOR 50 CENTS TO BE AN AUDIENCE OF ONE

Denver, Colo., Jan. 10. — (U.P.) — Bishop Frank H. Rice is a determined man.

Scheduled to speak at a mass meeting protesting an increase in streetcar fare, the bishop found the hall deserted.

Undaunted, he gave a janitor 50 cents to listen to his speech.

Questioned as to how he enjoyed the bishop's oratory, the janitor answered, "Hub?"

LEAVE TOLL OF DEATH, SUFFERING IN THEIR WAKE

TRANSPORTATION AND COM- MUNICATION FACILITIES ARE SERIOUSLY CRIPPLED

GALESBURG, ILLINOIS, REPORT- ED 18 INCHES SNOW AND EXPECTING MORE

Chicago, Jan. 10. — (U.P.) — Snow and cold barrages made a no man's land of the midwest today, leaving a toll of death, suffering and crippled transportation and communication facilities.

Stragglers of the wintry army attacked outlying regions as far west as the Pacific coast and eastward to the north central and New England states. The repercussions were heard as far south as the upper Gulf belt, where either rain or snow carried the seasonal war into usually neutral climes.

A practically unbroken realm of white stretched from upper Texas to the Arctic and from the Rocky Mountains to the Appalachians. It approached record depths at many points in the midwest. Galesburg, Ill., had recorded 18 inches of snow and more was expected.

Six deaths attributable to the storm were reported. In the Chicago area the wet flakes pelted down for 20 hours and laid a covering almost 8 inches deep over the landscape. Other mid-continent areas experienced snowfalls varying between those limits.

Trains moved on belated schedules. Telegraph and telephone wires were snapped off under the weight of snow or sleet. City streets and country highways were heaped high with drifts.

The disturbance was moving eastward today, threatening an anti-climax to unseasonably warm temperatures on the Atlantic seaboard. More snow was falling or was promised for the entire eastern half of the United States.

Floods added to the menace in Indiana, southern Illinois and neighboring states to the south. Streams near Cairo, Ill., had left their banks and the Mississippi was mounting rapidly. A yellow flood gushed over the banks of the Wabasha and White rivers in Indiana, covering hundreds of acres of land. The state highway department closed 11 highways.

Temperatures sought lower levels today over most of the nation. The 15-above level approximated in the Chicago area was approached in a majority of mid-west points. The low mark reported for the continent was 48 degrees below zero, prevailing at both West Battleford and Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, Canada.

Six deaths directly attributable to the storm had been reported from points in the central and southeastern states and belated reports were expected to swell the total. A snow shoveler and a railroad towerman died in Chicago, a woman was killed in a traffic accident at Danville caused by sleet-covered pavement and two persons in northern Indiana were killed similarly. One death was reported in Oklahoma.

BURGLAR TOOK TWO THEATRE TICKETS AND IS NABBED

Chicago, Jan. 10. — (U.P.) — Maurice Le Fevre enjoys nothing more than a good play and when he robbed an apartment of $1,500 in jewelry he also took two tickets to "Strange Interlude."

He saw the first half of the long play and was thrilled. Just as he sat down after the intermission, detectives tapped him on the shoulder. The owner of the tickets remembered the numbers.

Le Fevre confessed to the robbery and had only one complaint: "I'm afraid by the time I get out the play will be gone and I'll never see the last half."

SEEKS EMBARGO ON IMPORATION OF SILVER ORE

Washington, Jan. 10. — (U.P.) — An embargo on the importation of silver was advocated today by Senator Pittman, democrat, Nevada, in a statement declaring the existence of domestic silver mines is threatened by the low price of the ore.

Gov. Smith said his plans embody nothing "but rest."

GOVERNMENTAL SHIP OF CHICAGO IN DEBT OCEAN

GOES DOWN WITH A LAST FRANTIC SOS SIGNAL BROADCASTED

BATTERED OLD HULL HAD BEEN WOBBLING FOR 20 MONTHS

By EARL J. JOHNSON

Chicago, Jan. 10. —With a last frantic SOS Chicago's governmental ship has gone down in the ocean of debt through which her battered old hull has been wobbling for twenty months.

The second largest city in the country is flat broke. For approximately sixteen years Chicago has been living beyond its income. Now credit is exhausted and the health and safety of three and a half million residents are threatened by the gravest financial crisis ever faced by an American municipality.

Today, as Mayor William Hale Thompson and his quarreling aldermen went into what threatens to be a four-month deadlock over proposed remedies, the city's millions were given a close-up view of conditions by the advent of another record snow storm.

Street cleaning machinery broke under the strain of clearing arterial highways. Women and children in residential districts waded knee deep in snow drifts to reach groceries and public schools. The few trucks and men left in the streets department concentrated on keeping loop streets open. Behind apartment buildings and tenements garbage continued to pile up because the disposal department was virtually paralyzed by lack of funds and by snow drifts.

Merchandise deliveries were delayed in many parts of the city by the closing of streets from which the snow could not be removed. Automobiles and taxis were forced to follow street car tracks which had been kept open by surface lines.

TRANSPORTATION AND COMMUNICATION FACILITIES ARE SERIOUSLY CRIPPLED

GALESBURG, ILLINOIS, REPORTED 18 INCHES SNOW AND EXPECTING MORE

Chicago, Jan. 10. —(U.P.)—Snow and cold barrages made a no man's land of the midwest today, leaving a toll of death, suffering and crippled transportation and communication facilities.

Stragglers of the wintry army attacked outlying regions as far west as the Pacific coast and eastward to the north central and New England states. The repercussions were heard as far south as the upper Gulf belt, where either rain or snow carried the seasonal war into usually neutral climes.

A practically unbroken realm of white stretched from upper Texas to the Arctic and from the Rocky Mountains to the Appalachians. It approached record depths at many points in the midwest. Galesburg, Ill., had recorded 18 inches of snow and more was expected.

Six deaths attributable to the storm were reported.

In the Chicago area the wet flakes pelted down for 20 hours and laid a covering almost 8 inches deep over the landscape. Other mid-continent areas experienced snowfalls varying between those limits.

Trains moved on belated schedules. Telegraph and telephone wires were snapped off under the weight of snow or sleet. City streets and country highways were heaped high with drifts.

The disturbance was moving eastward today, threatening an anti-cyclone to unseasonably warm temperatures on the Atlantic seaboard. More snow was falling or was promised for the entire eastern half of the United States.

Floods added to the menace in Indiana, southern Illinois and neighboring states to the south. Streams near Cairo, Ill., had left their banks and the Mississippi was mounting rapidly.

A yellow flood gushed over the banks of the Wabasha and White rivers in Indiana, covering hundreds of acres of land. The state highway department closed 11 highways.

Temperatures sought lower levels today over most of the nation. The 15-above level approximated in the Chicago area was approached in a majority of mid-west points. The low mark reported for the continent was 48 degrees below zero, prevailing at both West Battleford and Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, Canada.

Six deaths directly attributable to the storm had been reported from points in the central and southeastern states and belated reports were expected to swell the total. A snow shoveler and a railroad towerman died in Chicago, a woman was killed in a traffic accident at Danville caused by sleet-covered pavement and two persons in northern Indiana were killed similarly. One death was reported in Oklahoma.

BURGLAR TOOK TWO THEATRE TICKETS AND IS NABBED

Chicago, Jan. 10. —(U.P.)—Maurice Le Fevre enjoys nothing more than a good play and when he robbed an apartment of $1,500 in jewelry he also took two tickets to "Strange Interlude."

He saw the first half of the long play and was thrilled. Just as he sat down after the intermission, detectives tapped him on the shoulder. The owner of the tickets remembered the numbers.

Le Fevre confessed to the robbery and had only one complaint: "I'm afraid by the time I get out the play will be gone and I'll never see the last half."

SEEKS EMBARGO ON IMPORTATION OF SILVER ORE

Washington, Jan. 10. —(U.P.)—An embargo on the importation of silver was advocated today by Senator Pittman, democrat, Nevada, in a statement declaring the existence of domestic silver mines is threatened by the low price of the ore.

HON. AL SMITH GIVEN KEYS TO CORAL GABLES

Miami, Fla., Jan. 10. —(U.P.)—Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York, given a key to the city of Coral Gables today, commented "I am here on a vacation and I hope no one will say anything if I have to use this key to get in late at night."

Gov. Smith said his plans embodied nothing "but rest."

Planes fueled and perfectly tuned, members of the First Pursuit Group stationed at Selfridge Field and commanded by Maj. Ralph Royce (inset), are all ready to take the air on a 3,500-mile test flight from Mount Clemens, Mich., to Spokane, Wash. The planes will keep in communication with land radio stations and with each other. Some of the fliers are (rear, left to right) Sergt. Guile, Lieuts. Rhudger, Shanahan and Sanders and (front, left to right) Sergt. Davis and Lieuts. Jacobs and Harrington.

Wanderers in the Home park at Hampton court are said to have been startled by hearing the gangs of workmen employed in renovating its ditches and copes break into song. How far have we strayed from Merrie England, when even highwaymen and hangmen sang at their work! We may well pine for a return to the days of Peuchum and Macheath. Today errand boys whistle, grooms hiss through their teeth and taxi drivers groan, but only sailors, soldiers on the march and Welsh miners sing at their work. The rest of us confine our singing to the privacy of our baths. Behind locked doors we out-soar Chaffin, but the presence of one fellow creature is enough to reduce us to dumbness.

It was not considered strange that the old-time milkmaid crooned at her task. Who expects the modern typist to follow her example? It is frequently complained that noise is the curse of civilization. Why not turn it into a blessing by making it harmonious? When every man sings no din of traffic will be heard. 'Tis a sure sign work goes on merrily," said Isaac Bickerstaff, "when folk sing at it." It is high time we forsake the idea that work is a penance to be performed in silence in a black coat.

LIFE'S HAPPINESS FOUND IN WORK

Judge Graham Torrance Gives Views on Life to Lions Club Dinner Meeting

PRaises WORK OF CLUB

Attendance Contest Party Set for January 17, Theatre and Dinner Dance

Happy is the man who has found his life's work. This is the viewpoint held on life by Judge Graham Torrance of Bemidji, of the 15th judicial district, who expounded his theories on life to members of the Brainerd Lions club Wednesday evening.

"No one can find complete happiness in life unless he has found the work to his liking so that he can put his heart into it," he said.

The judge praised the work of service clubs, spoke of their value to the community by actual service rendered and to the members by contact and exchange of ideas.

The speaker told of the friendships he had made in Brainerd and of the pleasure he experienced in meeting friends in this city.

The evening of January 17 was decided upon as the date for the holding of the attendance contest party. The contest resulted in a tie. The program calls for a theatre party at 7 p. m. with a dinner dance to follow at the Ransford hotel. Arrangements are being made by R. L. Geist, Clyde E. Parker and D. H. Fullerton.

Community Life

YEARS ago, the business slogan in most towns was "Every man for himself and the devil take the hindmost," says the Red Wing Eagle.

The result of that cutthroat policy was that the business men spent their time and energy scrapping with each other. The effort that should have gone into making business better for everybody, was all wasted. Today, we have in wideawake communities, a sentiment among the business men that the best results are obtained where all work harmoniously for the common good. A town where that sentiment prevails will go far ahead of one which runs on the old lines of everyone for himself.

While business men have generally been converted to this idea, there remains considerable of the obsolete "Everyone for himself" conception among the public generally. A good many people do not realize that their prosperity and welfare depend to a large measure on the prosperity and welfare of the community as a whole.

One manifestation of the everyone for himself idea, is shown by the people who buy much of their supplies away from home. It is difficult to see how they gain anything even temporarily by this practice. And in the long run this policy is harmful to them, since they impoverish their home town by so doing. And when they impoverish their home town, they lessen its ability to give them satisfactory employment, and an adequate share of those advantages that are necessary to make residence in any town desirable.

Your Value

THE Emporia Gazette wants you to ask yourself these questions, and then turn in an answer as to just what you think you are worth to your community.

Are you in favor of public improvement?

Do you criticize your town to strangers?

Do you distrust public-spirited men?

Are you ready to show hospitality to strangers?

Are you glad to see others succeed?

Do you oppose every movement which does not originate with yourself?

Do you put on a long face when a stranger speaks of locating here?

Do you oppose every public enterprise which does not appear of personal benefit to yourself?

Do you refuse to share the expense of extending the town's trading territory, but expect to reap the benefit from the money others spend to promote business?

Are you a town builder or a town killer?

As a business man do you ride free on the efforts of others, or are you doing your share in bringing customers to your town? If you are riding free do you think you are entitled to prosper with your community?

Farmers Luncheon Clubs

A NEWS report states that farmers in the community near Aberdeen, S. D., are organizing what is believed to be the first social farmers' clubs in the country.

The club, according to Frank McHigh, originator of the Dakota plan, will sponsor regular monthly luncheon meetings at which topics relating to the farmer and his occupation will be discussed.

The Dakota idea is nothing new. Here in Crow Wing county our Farm Bureau units meet regularly with a luncheon and phases of farming, poultry raising, dairying, etc., are discussed by the farmers and by experts sent out by the County Agent.

And luncheons among farmers is no new or original idea. As long as we can remember, any good farmer friend always had a luncheon ready when a city friend made an extended stay. Luncheons are a part of the program of any Farm Bureau unit meeting, of any parent-teachers meeting, in fact of any gathering of farmer friends.

The Dakota plan is not new nor original. It has been in vogue in Minnesota before the Dakotas became states.

Drunken Driving

JUDGE VERNON GATES of Rochester, in sentencing Carl Beaumont in district court last week to a year in the county jail for drunken driving, served notice that he will have no mercy on drunken drivers. It was the first time that a jurist in this section had meted out the maximum sentence of a year for that offense.

The Rochester jurist should be commended for this action. There is no greater menace to the safety of men, women and children on the highways than a drunken driver. A large percentage of the accidents occurring on the highways today are due to the fact that the drivers figuring in the mishaps were under the influence of liquor.

There is only one way to curb drunken driving, and that is Judge Gates' way. If each jurist in the nation sentenced every drunken driver who appeared in his court to serve a year in jail, there soon would be few if any intoxicated drivers on our highways and there would be many less accidents—Wabasha Herald-Standard.

WORKING quietly and paradoxically making little noise about their achievements, a recently appointed New York Noise Commission is gathering statistics on unnecessary noises. Excessive noise creates nervousness. What is especially irritating is noise that has no excuse for being.

THE school board had a late session this week during the cold snap. By mutual agreement nobody motored away until all cars represented were able to click and get up steam. The idea was simple. What could go was to tow what was frozen dead.

THE shifting about of whole industries, the changing of work and products produced, has caused America to have a floating population that is without a job, and having been let out of one industry, finds difficulty in establishing itself in another.

JANUARY sees the most bills of the year descending upon the average household. Have some consideration for Pa who figures ways and means to meet the rush.

"STORM-TOSSED"

BY HELEN SCHERMERHORN YOUNG

WHAT HAS HAPPENED BEFORE.

BOTH Ned Grier and Dick Grant, college mates, are in love with young and pretty, Enid Monroe. When Dick is sent to Shanghai by the oil company for which both men work, Ned wins Enid by telling her that Dick is living with an Eurasian woman in Shanghai. Enid consents in wounded pride to marry Ned. Dick returns to America, expecting to propose to Enid. He learns she is to be married to Ned very soon and that he is expected to act as best man.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.)

CHAPTER XIII.

THE trip East was a nightmare. The parties before the wedding an ordeal.

Then there was the dinner for the bridal party on the night before the wedding. Enid took Dick's hand and Ned's, after the other guests were gone, and dragged them into the room where her lovely gifts—silver and crystal and rich fabrics for the new home—were ranged on tables.

She darted to a little chest of ebony and dragged out of it a royal-blue China robe—Dick's robe of the lotus flowers—and, hugging it to her, twirled before them. Ned's eyes were fixed on her with hunger and pride.

He chest was lined with sandalwood and from the folds of the robe the delicate perfume was wafted to Dick.

"See how beautiful it is! A dear friend thought of me—a moment—far away in that fabulous Chinese city!"

Why did her voice then dwindle as she spoke those last words? Why did her blue eyes cling and question for a moment?

In after years Dick's memories of this scene were a blur of questioning blue eyes, a voice like a lament in the dark, and—sandalwood perfume.

There he was standing with Ned at the altar, with the wedding-ring in his pocket—the ring which was to be the symbol and mark of the ceremony that was upon them. It hurt, terribly, like a twisting knife in his side.

There she came like a beautiful fly, walking with that great grace and dignity which were hers; her heavy satin train pulling back until it outlined her figure like a marble statue with a thin sheaf of drapery sculptured over it.

Dick couldn't see her eyes. She didn't raise them until she was almost at the altar. She looked first at Ned and then for a moment her eyes rested on Dick. He felt suddenly weak all over.

"Enid—Enid, my darling," his heart cried out. "Why do you look at me like that? Why do your lovely eyes reproach me? Is it distrust? God, why should it be? You've looked at me like that ever since I came for your wedding. What has been puzzling you? When did that doubt begin? What caused it? What is it, Enid? You haven't even treated me as if we were the good friends we are—even if you didn't love me. Enid, Enid. Why did you look at me—you know I love—"

He caught himself. There he was standing at the altar with Enid, who loved another man; the minister was saying the words which would make Enid the wife of Ned; he was taking the ring out of his pocket to give to Ned to put on her finger; and he was tearing his soul with love for her! No, no, it could not be! He must not—

Then he was walking out of the church behind Enid and Ned, the organ pealing joyously and every one smiling at the handsome couple.

The wedding party at the table afterward. Toasting the bride and groom. The anguish of it! And then a further pang—there he was up in the guest-room helping Ned tie his tie and putting the last things into his bag.

"Good-bye, old man," said Dick, his hand gripping Ned's as they were leaving the room. "You're the luckiest man in the world."

"Here they come!" Dick was

Wall Street, a man across the aisle from Dick turned a page of his newspaper, and Dick saw Enid's picture with those eyes looking straight at him. He got up quickly and waited at the door until the guard opened it at the next station.

Down Lafayette Street he tore, and when he reached the confusing cross-currents of traffic where the Brooklyn Bridge begins its span across the East River he had to dodge quickly as he had in football to evade a tackle—a big truck had shaved his shoulder. He hardly knew where he was headed for.

However, the discipline of his military school training and the caught with the crowd of young people at the foot of the stairs, confetti showering over him. Out of the front door and running before the bride and groom to the automobile. Just as Dick was about to close the door, Enid reached out her hand and, before he knew it, he had bent over and kissed it.

"I have my royal-blue robe with me, Dick," she whispered. "God, why did she say that! The kimono which he had thought she would wear on their wedding trip—the gown which he had loved because it was to be wrapped around her dear body. He had imagined her lying on a sofa with him coming in and kneeling beside her. She might have had breakfast in it the first morning after their wedding. But now!

He looked after the motor until some one slapped him on the back and shouted, "Come with me to drink to the happy couple's health."

When he reached the buffet, he took a long draft of champagne and then threaded his way through the guests and up to the room he and Ned had just left.

It was some time before the rest of the convivial party realized that Dick was not with them.

In the subway the next morning on the way downtown to the headquarters of the oil company in stiff grueling of his recent experience in business put him at ease when he reported to his chief.

It did not relieve his misery to find that he had distinctly made good in China and that important duties were to be assigned to him in America. Somehow or other, he managed to hold up his end of the conversation and to leave his chief more than ever impressed with his ability, but when the door closed behind him his defense gave way.

When he left, however, some of the fellows cast wise looks at each other. One of them said, "Old Dick never was much of a booze-fighter, but I guess that wedding was too much for him."

"I'll say it was," said another. "That boy looks all in."

In the afternoon Dick called on Mrs. Grier, Ned's mother, whose home had been his since he was a little chap. It was not even necessary for him to ring the bell. He had carried a key to the Grier house since he and Ned were juniors at the military academy.

He tried to put some of the old boyishness into his voice as he mounted the stairs and called to Mrs. Grier, giving the whistle which was the old signal between Ned and himself.

"13th Chair" Fine Talking Thriller

Strange mysteries in a ghostly room; voices from the great beyond, the exposing of mediumistic tricks and the dramatic solution of a baffling murder mystery are the elements in "The Thirteenth Chair," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's all talking filmization of the stage play, now being shown at the Paramount theatre.

Fashions for the Smart Woman

PRINCESS

The princess line first danced its way into fashion's favor in evening frocks. Every one found it so delightful that it soon made its mark in the realm of costumes for formal afternoon wear. And now it appears in woolen frocks for the street, wherever the smart women are observed. The model shown here is a true princess type, with a molded line coupled with a flare which develops gradually. It is made up in a novelty tweed with a flattering, round collar of pique. The button trimming is noteworthy. Paris is distributing buttons lavishly.

Community Life

YEARS ago, the business slogan in most towns was "Every man for himself and the devil take the hindmost," says the Red Wing Eagle.

The result of that cutthroat policy was that the business men spent their time and energy scrapping with each other. The effort that should have gone into making business better for everybody, was all wasted. Today, we have in wideawake communities, a sentiment among the business men that the best results are obtained where all work harmoniously for the common good. A town where that sentiment prevails will go far ahead of one which runs on the old lines of everyone for himself.

While business men have generally been converted to this idea, there remains considerable of the obsolete "Everyone for himself" conception among the public generally. A good many people do not realize that their prosperity and welfare depend to a large measure on the prosperity and welfare of the community as a whole.

One manifestation of the everyone for himself idea, is shown by the people who buy much of their supplies away from home. It is difficult to see how they gain anything even temporarily by this practice. And in the long run this policy is harmful to them, since they impoverish their home town by so doing. And when they impoverish their home town, they lessen its ability to give them satisfactory employment, and an adequate share of those advantages that are necessary to make residence in any town desirable.

Your Value

THE Emporia Gazette wants you to ask yourself these questions, and then turn in an answer as to just what you think you are worth to your community.

Are you in favor of public improvement?

Do you criticize your town to strangers?

Do you distrust public-spirited men?

Are you ready to show hospitality to strangers?

Are you glad to see others succeed?

Do you oppose every movement which does not originate with yourself?

Do you put on a long face when a stranger speaks of locating here?

Do you oppose every public enterprise which does not appear of personal benefit to yourself?

Do you refuse to share the expense of extending the town's trading territory, but expect to reap the benefit from the money others spend to promote business?

Are you a town builder or a town killer?

As a business man do you ride free on the efforts of others, or are you doing your share in bringing customers to your town? If you are riding free do you think you are entitled to prosper with your community?

Farmers Luncheon Clubs

A NEWS report states that farmers in the community near Aberdeen, S. D., are organizing what is believed to be the first social farmers' clubs in the country.

The club, according to Frank McHigh, originator of the Dakota plan, will sponsor regular monthly luncheon meetings at which topics relating to the farmer and his occupation will be discussed.

The Dakota idea is nothing new. Here in Crow Wing county our Farm Bureau units meet regularly with a luncheon and phases of farming, poultry raising, dairying, etc., are discussed by the farmers and by experts sent out by the County Agent.

And luncheons among farmers is no new or original idea. As long as we can remember, any good farmer friend always had a luncheon ready when a city friend made an extended stay. Luncheons are a part of the program of any Farm Bureau unit meeting, of any parent-teachers meeting, in fact of any gathering of farmer friends.

The Dakota plan is not new nor original. It has been in vogue in Minnesota before the Dakotas became states.

Drunken Driving

JUDGE VERNON GATES of Rochester, in sentencing Carl Beaumont in district court last week to a year in the county jail for drunken driving, served notice that he will have no mercy on drunken drivers. It was the first time that a jurist in this section had meted out the maximum sentence of a year for that offense.

The Rochester jurist should be commended for this action. There is no greater menace to the safety of men, women and children on the highways than a drunken driver. A large percentage of the accidents occurring on the highways today are due to the fact that the drivers figuring in the mishaps were under the influence of liquor.

There is only one way to curb drunken driving, and that is Judge Gates' way. If each jurist in the nation sentenced every drunken driver who appeared in his court to serve a year in jail, there soon would be few if any intoxicated drivers on our highways and there would be many less accidents—Wabasha Herald-Standard.

WORKING quietly and paradoxically making little noise about their achievements, a recently appointed New York Noise Commission is gathering statistics on unnecessary noises. Excessive noise creates nervousness. What is especially irritating is noise that has no excuse for being.

THE school board had a late session this week during the cold snap. By mutual agreement nobody motored away until all cars represented were able to click and get up steam. The idea was simple. What could go was to tow what was frozen dead.

THE shifting about of whole industries, the changing of work and products produced, has caused America to have a floating population that is without a job, and having been let out of one industry, finds difficulty in establishing itself in another.

JANUARY sees the most bills of the year descending upon the average household. Have some consideration for Pa who figures ways and means to meet the rush.

"STORM-TOSSED"

BY HELEN SCHERMERHORN YOUNG

WHAT HAS HAPPENED BEFORE.

BOTH Ned Grier and Dick Grant, college mates, are in love with young and pretty, Enid Monroe. When Dick is sent to Shanghai by the oil company for which both men work, Ned wins Enid by telling her that Dick is living with an Eurasian woman in Shanghai. Enid consents in wounded pride to marry Ned. Dick returns to America, expecting to propose to Enid. He learns she is to be married to Ned very soon and that he is expected to act as best man.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.)

CHAPTER XIII.

THE trip East was a nightmare. The parties before the wedding an ordeal.

Then there was the dinner for the bridal party on the night before the wedding. Enid took Dick's hand and Ned's, after the other guests were gone, and dragged them into the room where her lovely gifts—silver and crystal and rich fabrics for the new home—were ranged on tables.

She darted to a little chest of ebony and dragged out of it a royal-blue China robe—Dick's robe of the lotus flowers—and, hugging it to her, twirled before them. Ned's eyes were fixed on her with hunger and pride.

The chest was lined with sandalwood and from the folds of the robe the delicate perfume was wafted to Dick.

"See how beautiful it is! A dear friend thought of me—a moment—far away in that fabulous Chinese city!"

Why did her voice thin and dwindle as she spoke those last words? Why did her blue eyes cling and question for a moment?

In after years, Dick's memories of this scene were a blur of questioning blue eyes, a voice like a lament in the dark, and—sandalwood perfume.

There he was standing with Ned at the altar, with the wedding-ring in his pocket—the ring which was to be the symbol and mark of the ceremony that was upon them. It hurt, terribly, like a twisting knife in his side.

There she came like a beautiful fly, walking with that great grace and dignity which were hers; her heavy satin train pulling back until it outlined her figure like a marble statue with a thin sheaf of drapery sculptured over it.

Dick couldn't see her eyes. She didn't raise them until she was almost at the altar. She looked first at Ned and then for a moment her eyes rested on Dick. He felt suddenly weak all over.

"Enid—Enid, my darling," his heart cried out. "Why do you look at me like that? Why do your lovely eyes reproach me? Is it distrust? God, why should it be? You've looked at me like that ever since I came for your wedding."

What has been puzzling you? When did that doubt begin? What caused it? What is it, Enid? You haven't even treated me as if we were the good friends we are—even if you didn't love me. Enid, Enid. Why did you look at me— you know I love—

He caught himself. There he was standing at the altar with Enid, who loved another man; the minister was saying the words which would make Enid the wife of Ned; he was taking the ring out of his pocket to give to Ned to put on her finger; and he was tearing his soul with love for her! No, no, it could not be! He must not—

Then he was walking out of the church behind Enid and Ned, the organ pealing joyously and everyone smiling at the handsome couple.

The wedding party at the table afterward. Toasting the bride and groom. The anguish of it! And then a further pang—there he was up in the guest-room helping Ned tie his tie and putting the last things into his bag.

"Good-bye, old man," said Dick, his hand gripping Ned's as they were leaving the room. "You're the luckiest man in the world."

"Here they come!" Dick was

"See how beautiful it is!"

caught with the crowd of young people at the foot of the stairs, confetti showering over him. Out of the front door and running before the bride and groom to the automobile. Just as Dick was about to close the door, Enid reached out her hand and, before he knew it, he had bent over and kissed it.

"I have my royal-blue robe with me, Dick," she whispered.

God, why did she say that! The kimono which he had thought she would wear on their wedding trip—the gown which he had loved because it was to be wrapped around her dear body. He had imagined her lying on a sofa with him coming in and kneeling beside her. She might have had breakfast in it the first morning after their wedding. But now!

He looked after the motor until some one slapped him on the back and shouted, "Come with me to drink to the happy couple's health."

When he reached the buffet, he took a long draft of champagne and then threaded his way through the guests and up to the room he and Ned had just left.

It was some time before the rest of the convivial party realized that Dick was not with them.

In the subway the next morning on the way downtown to the headquarters of the oil company in

Wall Street, a man across the aisle from Dick turned a page of his newspaper, and Dick saw Enid's picture with those eyes looking straight at him. He got up quickly and waited at the door until the guard opened it at the next station.

Down Lafayette Street he tore, and when he reached the confusing cross-currents of traffic where the Brooklyn Bridge begins its span across the East River he had to dodge quickly as he had in football to evade a tackle—a big truck had shaved his shoulder. He hardly knew where he was headed for.

However, the discipline of his military school, training and the stiff grueling of his recent experience in business put him at ease when he reported to his chief. It did not relieve his misery to find that he had distinctly made good in China and that important duties were to be assigned to him in America. Somehow or other, he managed to hold up his end of the conversation and to leave his chief more than ever impressed with his ability, but when the door closed behind him his defense gave way.

When he left, however, some of the fellows cast wise looks at each other. One of them said, "Old Dick never was much of a booze-fighter, but I guess that wedding was too much for him."

"I'll say it was," said another. "That boy looks all in."

In the afternoon Dick called on Mrs. Grier, Ned's mother, whose home had been his since he was a little chap. It was not even necessary for him to ring the bell. He had carried a key to the Grier house since he and Ned were juniors at the military academy.

He tried to put some of the old boyishness into his voice as he mounted the stairs and called to Mrs. Grier, giving the whistle which was the old signal between Ned and himself.

Fashions for the Smart Woman

PRINCESS

The princess line first danced its way into fashion's favor in evening frocks. Every one found it so delightful that it soon made its mark in the realm of costumes for formal afternoon wear. And now it appears in woolen frocks for the street, wherever the smart women are observed. The model shown here is a true princess type, with a molded line coupled with a flare which develops gradually. It is made up in a novelty tweed with a flattering, round collar of pique. The button trimming is noteworthy. Paris is distributing buttons lavishly.
Pictorial Printed Pattern No. 4984.

Alice White Is Soon to be Guest of Our Fair City

More good news for the theatre-goers of this town!

Alice White, the jazzy little heroine of "Show Girl" and "Broadway Babies," is coming to the Paramount Saturday only in her newest and breeziest all-dialogue picture.

It is "The Girl From Woolworth's," the story of a ten-cent store clerk who eventually becomes a night club entertainer. Alice White portrays this little salesgirl, whose love affair with a subway guard collides with her ambitions as a singer. After the coldest well, the picture shows what happens.

"18th Chair" Fine Talking Thriller

Strange mysteries in a ghostly room; voices from the great beyond, the exposing of mediumistic tricks and the dramatic solution of a baffling murder mystery are the elements in "The Thirteenth Chair," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's all talking filmization of the stage play, now being shown at the Paramount theatre.

COMMITTEE OF WESTERN BODY TO DECIDE SOON

IOWA STUDENTS WANT TO KNOW EFFECT OF EXPULSION OF THEIR 13 ATHLETES

UNIVERSITY WAS SUSPENDED BECAUSE ALLEGED TO HAVE PROSELYTED ATHLETICS

Iowa City, Ia., Jan. 10.—(UP)—Students and faculty of the University of Iowa awaited the arrival today of the eligibility committee of the western conference which will decide if Iowa may be re-admitted.

Like a bad boy who has been spanked and then reformed, the Iowa student body wanted to know if the expulsion of 13 Iowa athletes was the necessary step in obtaining reinstatement in the conference.

Chairman Thomas French of Ohio State will be accompanied by Prof. W. J. Moenkhaus of Indiana University and Prof. J. F. A. Pyre of the University of Wisconsin.

The trio will arrive at 4:05 P. M. today and continue their investigation Saturday. The expelled athletes may be called before the committee to testify.

Iowa was suspended from the western conference because it was alleged to have paid the expenses of some of its athletic stars.

tition on the high school floor next Friday evening.

The letter follows:

Dear "Happy":

In your column last evening, you wanted to know what the "Globe Trotters" are doing.

In reply, the Globe Trotters announce that they would be very glad to be on the floor of the high school gym next Friday evening, during the absence of Coach Kasch and his boys, to demonstrate their ability on a "winner take all" basis, to meet any team.

A challenge is hereby made to Ward's five.

These same "Globe Trotters" claim to be the cream of the city and well able to represent this locality on any floor.

They are to practice at the high school gym next Monday evening, and the following players are expected to report: Marlin, O. Heikinen, Gabiou, Wise, Swanson, DeRoche, Nutting, Fuller and Paine.

I have this information first hand. Yours for sport, Robt. W. Block.

BRAINERD HIGH-CROSBY-IRON-TON GAME TO ATTRACT LARGE CROWD

RANGE SQUAD CONFIDENT OF WIN; LOCALS DETERMINED, TO SPRING SURPRISE

Surprises galore are expected to-night.

Brainerd high school will unloose a bag of tricks, that indefinable something up their sleeves, and Crosby-Ironton determined to continue their winning streak, will let loose with all guns.

Such is the spirit that predominates advance predictions on tonight's cage classic at the new Washington high school gymnasium.

The game will attract a record crowd. Tickets went on sale downtown and in the school this afternoon. They were going fast.

Good weather and open roads will bring in many outsiders while the range will be represented by a large contingent of fans.

The game will get underway at 8 P. M. promptly. The teams will go on the floor for the warm-up ten minutes before the start. The early comers will be assured the best seats for a rush is expected.

Both teams are in the pink of condition and despite the powerful lineup Crosby will present, Brainerd will fight to the last gasp for victory. The range squad is rated as slightly favored by their decisive victory over Bemidji.

By "HAPPY"

Tonight is the night for that big game with Crosby-Ironton high. Reports have it that the Range boys are bigger and tougher than ever this year. 'Twould be an opportune time for Coach Kasch's men to demonstrate the old adage: "The bigger they are, the harder they fall."

Judging from comparative scores of both teams against Bemidji, the odds favor the Range team, however, Brainerd has played some of its best games when rated as the under dogs.

The world over, the under dog always brings forth the applause of the public when it fights gamely and squarely, and Brainerd has always done that. And how!

Lottie complained this afternoon that she didn't like the way some of you boxes razed the Brainerd players last week when she thought they were doing their best. Lottie is going to be there to check up on you again to-night, too.

Sportsmanship is the basic principle upon which lies the success of all athletic contests. Boos and jeers never won a game. To the real sportsman there could be no satisfaction in claiming victory through such unfair methods. Real fans, no matter what sort of contest they are witnessing, will give credit where it is due, whether to the home team or its opponent. If the game is lost, why alibi it? It is the part of sportsmanship to say, "The better team won," although for the sake of keeping alive that spirit of rivalry, one might say, "We'll beat them next time."

One might say that Brainerd high has a choir now. At least reports are current that the students are rehearsing new and old songs for Crosby-Ironton's benefit tonight. We imagine that Crosby will be all pepped up too, and we may have a contest in vocal work there which will rival Atwater-Kent's recent contest to uncover the best basso-sopranos in the country.

With ladies' bowling teams and two ladies' band, why can't we have a good ladies' basketball team? By a "good" ladies' team it isn't necessarily meant that all of the ladies have to be Sunday school teachers.

of "Talkative Jack" Sharkey's threats. But he may see some "fire" if Jack "drags one up from the cellar and plants it on his claret fountain." Sharkey should have all the odds with him, and when such is the case, he usually carries out all his threats.

Ward's Brainerd five will play their first home game in the new high school gym here next Tuesday night when they play a return game with the Crosby Rangers. If the game is anything like the battle over at Ironton the other evening it should be well worth watching.

With the warming house completed and the rink flooded, lovers of ice-skating and hockey should find a lot of enjoyment at the new Gregory Park rink. It should be ready for use by Sunday at the latest.

It's a thrilling sight to see a bunch of people, both young and old, sailing gracefully along over the smooth ice. Of course, the picture is usually somewhat marred by some unfortunate for the moment forgetting that his skates are not attached to the back of his neck and takes a ride on his ear or other parts equally as protesting of such treatment. But—what's a few bumps in the name of clean, healthful sport? You might do the same thing on an icy sidewalk without any intention whatsoever of indulging in winter's outdoor sport.

Something ought to be done about this Charles Arthur (the so-called Great) Shires. He can't fight but we will admit he is talking himself into some money to push over "steenth" rater. If he can talk the manager of the Chicago White Sox into doubling his salary for 1930, as he has demanded, then we'll know he's a better talker than a fighter.

Tonight is the night. Let's crank up the old "buggy" and go over to the new gym and give those Blue and White basketball boys some real, enthusiastic support.

Hockey's Most Colorful Star

By HARDIN BURNLEY

Eddie SHORE - FAMOUS ACE OF THE CHAMPION BRUINS - THE BIGGEST BOX-OFFICE MAGNET IN ICE HISTORY

THE HIGHEST PAID HOCKEY STAR IN THE GAME!

THE ZIPPIEST and most popular of cold winter sports is hockey, and the very same adjectives justly can be applied to that game's famous Eddie Shore, right defense of the world's champion Boston Bruins.

Zippiest—because Shore is skilled speed itself in every play possible and popular, because all big league hockey fans know he is as great an all-round performer as the breath-taking sport has yet produced.

Shore is verging on thirty, having played important amateur and professional hockey for a little more than ten years. He did not become a pro until he was twenty-four, as thoroughly seasoned a player as ever entered a big league.

A decade ago when starring with St. John's College of Canada, Shore was called "The Galloping Cobweb." He later featured with the Melville Millionaires and the Indian Head Tigers. Eddie became a pro with the Regina Capitals, later joining Edmonton in the old Western League.

Boston bought Shore for the proverbial song in 1926. It soon became clear that Eddie deserved the sobriquet of "The Galloping Wonder," for, while he spent hours in penalty cages, he played a wow of a hard-hitting game from the start.

With the merciless might of a Nagurski or Parkinson crashing a football line, "Shatter 'em" Shore is wont to rip through both off-fenses and defenses—a Thor and Mercury combined on skates; with all the devastating dash of a Dempsey in his prime and all the punch of Babe Ruth just as he "rides" a homer into distant bleachers.

Yes, "The Galloping Cobweb" savors both of Dempsey and of Ruth when it comes to what sport bugs call color.

And it's color that brings the coin to the box office and to the star with it. Shore is reputed to be the highest salaried hockey player—getting about $15,000 for the five-month 1929-1930 season.

CREDIT BUREAU ELECTS FOR YEAR

New Bylaws Effective; Business Men's Association Now Known by New Name

SIX DIRECTORS NAMED

Wm. Nelson Re-elected President; Secretary Manager to be Elected by Directors Soon

Under the new bylaws approved and placed into effect at the annual meeting last evening, the Brainerd Business Men's Association becomes the Brainerd Credit Bureau.

The following directors were elected at the meeting last evening in the Chamber of Commerce rooms:

For two year terms: W. J. Hall, Louis A. Hostager, Dr. R. A. Beise.

For one year terms: John Carlson, M. T. Barrett, and R. L. Geist.

Wm. Nelson was reelected president for the ensuing year.

The secretary-manager of the Bureau will be elected at the first meeting of the Board of Directors to be held soon.

Reports of the secretary for the year 1929 were received and accepted.

Cold Comfort

Gerald—You don't seem pleased when I suggest you have a lovely disposition.

Clarice—I'm not. Telling a girl she has a lovely disposition is usually an apology for not being able to say she is either good-looking or interesting.

Better Than "Nothing"

Uncle Sammy—Dat dorg is ma best friend, an' I wouldn't sell 'im for nothin'.

Brownie—I'll give you 50 cents for him.

Uncle Sammy—He's yo' dorg.

Undesirables

Hobo (on board train)—Has anybody lost a roll of bills?

"Yes, I have," cried several voices.

Hobo—Take them! They are from the butcher.

One on Uncle Sam

Ella—Who is this E Pluribus Unum?

Father—I don't know, but I don't like these men who part their names in the middle.

SHIPPED WEST

"Prehistoric oysters were found in the Potomac river recently."

"Yes, I think I ate some of them in a restaurant the other day."

But Today's Nights

In days of old when knights were bold
Politeness held its reign,
Men of that tribe would not describe
Their lady as a "jane."

An Apt Pupil

Old Mr. Fewlox—Don't you think in time you might learn to love me?

Young Miss Goldilox—Well, if I had a nice young tutor I might learn the theory of it.

Washington, Jan. 10.—(U.P.)—The failure to include Senator McMaster, independent republican, South Dakota, in the senate republican peace agreement prevented ratification of committee assignments at the republican conference today.

McMaster protested in the party council against his failure to get on the senate interstate commerce committee and discussion continued until time for the senate to meet, thus preventing a final vote on the agreement before tomorrow.

Flavor is risked when coffee is roasted in bulk. That's why Hills Bros roast only a few pounds at a time by a continuous process

If you put too many doughnuts in the hot fat at once, they will be soggy and greasy. When coffee is roasted in bulk, invariably some of the berries are roasted too much and some too little.

No wonder Hills Bros.' continuous process—Controlled Roasting—produces the better flavored coffee. By this method, only a few pounds at a time pass through the roasters and every berry is roasted evenly. No other coffee has the same matchless aroma and flavor of Hills Bros. Coffee because none is roasted the same way. Controlled Roasting is Hills Bros.' process exclusively.

Hills Bros. Coffee in vacuum tins is sold by grocers everywhere. Every bit of the aroma and rich strength produced by Controlled Roasting comes to you complete. Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name and look for the Arab—the trade-mark—on the can.

Your Body
renews itself in seven years!

SEVEN years hence, you will have an entirely different body. Billions of cells renew themselves within that space of time—if proper nourishment is obtained. Protein is the most important food element in rebuilding of these cells.

The choice, hard wheat of the Northwest draws its high protein content from the unusually large supply of nitrogen present in Northwestern soil and ideal climatic conditions prevalent in this area.

This heavy, high-protein wheat commands the highest price of any on the market. This wheat is used in milling Occident Flour.

While Occident Flour costs a trifle more than other flours, it is worth considerably more to you because of constant uniformity in your baking results, greater food value and a finer flavor than you have ever before tasted in your bread.

SIX DIRECTORS NAMED

Wm. Nelson Re-elected President; Secretary Manager to be Elected by Directors Soon

Under the new bylaws approved and placed into effect at the annual meeting last evening, the Brainerd Business Men's Association becomes the Brainerd Credit Bureau.

The following directors were elected at the meeting last evening in the Chamber of Commerce rooms:

For two year terms: W. J. Hall, Louis A. Hostager, Dr. R. A. Beise.

For one year terms: John Carlson, M. T. Barrett, and R. L. Geist.

Reports of the secretary for the year 1929 were received and accepted.

Cold Comfort

Gerald—You don't seem pleased when I suggest you have a lovely disposition.

Clarice—I'm not. Telling a girl she has a lovely disposition is usually an apology for not being able to say she is either good-looking or interesting.

'Better Than "Nothing"

Uncle Sammy—Dat dog is ma best friend, an' I wouldn't sell 'im for nothin'.

Brownie—I'll give you 50 cents for him.

Uncle Sammy—He's yo' dog.

Undesirables

Hobo (on board train)—Has anybody lost a roll of bills?

"Yes, I have," cried several voices.

Hobo—Take them! They are from the butcher.

One on Uncle Sam

Ella—Who is this E Pluribus Unum?

Father—I don't know, but I don't like these men who part their names in the middle.

SHIPPED WEST

"Yes, I think I ate some of them in a restaurant the other day."

Politeness held its reign,
Men of that tribe would not describe
Their lady as a "Jane."

An Apt Pupil

Old M. Pewlox—Don't you think in time you might learn to love me?

Young Miss Goldilox—Well, if I had a nice young tutor I might learn the theory of it.

TWO SEARCH FOR CHILDREN

Fuller and White Enter Blazing Residence of Charles Eue on Report of Children Trapped

As the temperature hovered 20 below zero 33 members of the Brainerd fire department fought a fire last night which gutted the home of Charles Eue, 209 Second avenue N. E. The one story and a half dwelling house of frame was a complete loss. The fire raged through the structure from the rear of the building and had gained such headway before noticed that it was impossible to control its spread. An overheated stove is blamed for the start.

Reported that two children were asleep in beds on the second floor Fire Chief Frank Fuller and Fireman Dean White donned gas masks and entered the blazing building. They returned after a thorough search through the smoke and flames in the bedrooms after satisfying themselves that the house was unoccupied.

The fire alarm was turned in by four different people at about 10 p. m. These four had noticed the flames belching from the building and had telephoned to the department at about the same time.

The home was unoccupied at the time of the fire, Mr. and Mrs. Eue and children visiting friends in northeast. So rapid did the flames spread it was impossible to save any of the furniture.

One line of two and a half inch hose was used playing a steady stream on the fire. The firemen became drenched, their clothes freezing. Fireman Wally McCullough slipped on the icy roof and would have fallen to the ground had he not grabbed a hole in the roof. Thinking of the safety of his fellow fire fighters he shouted "Look out below" as he fell and started to roll down the roof before saving himself.

A checkup on the damage caused by the fire is being made. The loss will be considerable.

The firemen fought the blaze for two hours.

The department answered a still alarm at 7:20 a. m. this morning to the Con O'Brien store where the firemen extinguished a small blaze in the store's awning. Sparks from a chimney were blamed.

USES 'STRATEGY'

HANDLING NAPKIN

One of the night school students the other evening scored a knockout punch on Noah Webster, L.L. D., the noted vocabularist.

She and a friend were eating in a downtown confectionery store following a class at which among other words they were taught to use was the word strategy. When her friend found difficulty in laying out her napkin the lady considered the occasion appropriate to use the new word she had learned.

"I see you are using strategy with your napkin," she told her friend.

The use of the word although incorrect shows the desire of the night school students to better their education.

Each of the 17 students attending the classes are eager to learn. They are giving Miss Emma S. Brattvet their teacher undivided attention. By the close of the term they will be more learned and better prepared to become citizens of this country.

The three R's, reading, writing and arithmetic, are being taught with special attention being paid to vocabulary this term.

The school meets each Tuesday and Thursday evening at 7 o'clock in the basement classroom in the city hall building.

BRAINERD 25 YEARS AGO

From the Daily Dispatch

January 10, 1905

Mrs. Augusta Merrill, wife of George Merrill died very suddenly last night, heart failure being assigned as the cause. She had been a resident of the city for a number of years. Mr. Merrill is a well known machinist in the N. P. shops of the city.

A little girl living in this city whose parents are said to have been appropriating some wood from the wood pile of a neighbor walked into the neighbors home the other day and with large black eyes sparkling with delight innocently said "Say, we won't take any more of your wood, papa bought some today."

William Wood returned this morning from Webwood, Ont., where he has been superintending operations at the Shakespeare mine. He reports good progress and says that inside of a week they will be pounding rock.

Superintendent of Schools O. A. Olson, of Cass county, was in the city for a short time today on business.

A telegram was received this morning conveying the news of the death of Dr. J. R. Howes, formerly a resident of this city. He was at El Paso, Texas. While here he was surgeon at the N. P. hotel of Brainerd.

There was a fire at the Brinkman hotel at Bemidji this morning, and before it was brought under control six buildings were burned. The loss is estimated at $75,000.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Brainerd Grocery company was held last evening and election of officers was held as follows: President, Con O'Brien; Vice President, M. J. Reilly; Treasurer, Dr. Werner Hempstead; Secretary and General Manager, W. H. Cleary.

An Iowa judge refused to grant a divorce to a man on the ground of drunkenness, saying that a woman has as much right to get drunk occasionally, as a man. How rapidly the women are acquiring all the rights and immunities we men have been enjoying for the last several thousand years.

BRAINERD GIRL VISITS SWEDEN

Most of Men Wear Derbies, People
Walk in Streets, Few Cars, Miss
Edith Erickson Writes

Miss Edith Erickson, who with her uncle P. A. Erickson sailed for Sweden on the S. S. Gripsholm of the Swedish-American line has written her parents telling of her trip. She reports a very nice trip all the way. Most of the food served on board ship was Swedish food she says, and the menus were printed in both the Swedish and American languages.

While on board ship there was dancing every afternoon and evening. Moving pictures, church services or concerts were also given every night, and on Sunday church services were held in the dining room.

She reports one tragedy. When the boat was only a short distance from Halifax, a young man of about 25 years of age leaped overboard. A two hour search was made for the body before the ship sailed, but it was not located. Another incident on board ship, was the struggle of a young Swedish man who had been in Minneapolis and was returning to his native country, called there by the illness of his parents. He had been over but a short time and had secured good employment. However, when his fare was paid, he had only $4 in his pocket. A collection was taken from among the passengers which amounted to $230.

After landing in Gothenburg, they called on a sister of Mrs. James Fyiskov of the city. She says there were not many cars in the city, and as many people walked in the middle of the street as on the sidewalk. Most of the men wore derbies.

From Stockholm they went to Malen

in an open Ford where they visited at the home of her aunt. She also enjoyed a Christmas party which her uncle Carl Holstrand was giving at Vaf for his school children. A school teacher there is known by the name of "magistrate" instead of teacher.

The days at this time of the year are very short, being only from 8 o'clock until 2 p. m. when it gets dark again. The country, however, she stated was very beautiful. They will return to Brainerd some time next summer before the first part of June.

$861 Paid in Wolf Bounties

Money paid out by the county in wolf bounties in the past six months totalled $861, it was announced today at the county auditor's office as application was made to the state for reimbursement.

NOTICE

The Brainerd Live Stock Shipping Association's annual meeting will be held on Monday, January 13 at 1 o'clock in the Farmers Room at the Court House.

They returned after a thorough search through the smoke and flames in the bedrooms after satisfying themselves that the house was unoccupied.

The fire alarm was turned in by four different people at about 10 p. m. These four had noticed the flames belching from the building and had telephoned to the department at about the same time.

The home was unoccupied at the time of the fire, Mr. and Mrs. Eue and children visiting friends in northeast. So rapid did the flames spread it was impossible to save any of the furniture.

One line of two and a half inch hose was used playing a steady stream on the fire. The firemen became drenched, their clothes freezing. Fireman Wally McCullough slipped on the icy roof and would have fallen to the ground had he not grabbed a hole in the roof. Thinking of the safety of his fellow fire fighters he shouted "Look out below" as he fell and started to roll down the roof before saving himself.

A checkup on the damage caused by the fire is being made. The loss will be considerable.

The firemen fought the blaze for two hours.

The department answered a still alarm at 7:20 a. m. this morning to the Con O'Brien store where the firemen extinguished a small blaze in the store's awning. Sparks from a chimney were blamed.

USES 'STRATEGY' HANDLING NAPKIN

One of the night school students the other evening scored a knockout punch on Noah Webster, L.L. D., the noted vocabulist.

She and a friend were eating in a downtown confectionery store following a class at which among other words they were taught to use was the word strategy. When her friend found difficulty in laying out her napkin the lady considered the occasion appropriate to use the new word she had learned.

"I see you are using strategy with your napkin," she told her friend.

The use of the word although incorrect shows the desire of the night school students to better their education.

Each of the 17 students attending the classes are eager to learn. They are giving Miss Emma S. Brattvet their teacher undivided attention. By the close of the term they will be more learned and better prepared to become citizens of this country.

The three R's, reading, writing and arithmetic, are being taught with special attention being paid to vocabulary this term.

The school meets each Tuesday and Thursday evening at 7 o'clock in the basement classroom in the city hall building.

BRAINERD 25 YEARS AGO

From the Daily Dispatch

January 10, 1905

Mrs. Augusta Merrill, wife of George Merrill died very suddenly last night, heart failure being assigned as the cause. She had been a resident of the city for a number of years. Mr. Merrill is a well known machinist in the N. P. shops of the city.

A little girl living in this city whose parents are said to have been appropriating some wood from the wood pile of a neighbor walked into the neighbors home the other day and with large black eyes sparkling with delight innocently said "Say, we won't take any more of your wood, papa bought some today."

William Wood returned this morning from Webwood, Ont., where he has been supervising operations at the Shakespeare mine. He reports good progress and says that inside of a week they will be pounding rock.

Superintendent of Schools Olaf Olson, of Cass county, was in the city for a short time today on business.

A telegram was received this morning conveying the news of the death of Dr. J. R. Howes, formerly a resident of this city. He was at El Paso, Texas. While here he was surgeon at the N. P. hotel of Brainerd.

There was a fire at the Brinkman hotel at Bemidji this morning, and before it was brought under control six buildings were burned. The loss is estimated at $75,000.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Brainerd Grocery company was held last evening and election of officers was held as follows: President, Con O'Brien; Vice President, M. J. Reilly; Treasurer, Dr. Werner Hempstead; Secretary and General Manager, W. H. Cleary.

An Iowa judge refused to grant a divorce to a man on the ground of drunkenness, saying that a woman has as much right to get drunk occasionally, as a man. How rapidly the women are acquiring all the rights and immunities we men have been enjoying for the last several thousand years.

BRAINERD GIRL VISITS SWEDEN

Most of Men Wear Derbies, People Walk in Streets, Few Cars, Miss Edith Erickson Writes

Miss Edith Erickson, who with her uncle P. A. Erickson sailed for Sweden on the S. S. Gripsholm of the Swedish-American line has written her parents telling of her trip. She reports a very nice trip all the way. Most of the food served on board ship was Swedish food she says, and the menus were printed in both the Swedish and American languages.

While on board ship there was dancing every afternoon and evening. Moving pictures, church services or concerts were also given every night, and on Sunday church services were held in the dining room.

She reports one tragedy. When the boat was only a short distance from Halifax, a young man of about 25 years of age leaped overboard. A two hour search was made for the body before the ship sailed, but it was not located. Another incident on board ship, was the struggle of a young Swedish man who had been in Minneapolis and was returning to his native country, called there by the illness of his parents. He had been over but a short time and had secured good employment. However, when his fare was paid, he had only $4 in his pocket. A collection was taken from among the passengers which amounted to $230.

After landing in Gothenburg, they called on a sister of Mrs. James Fyskov of the city. She says there were not many cars in the city, and as many people walked in the middle of the street as on the sidewalk. Most of the men wore derbies.

From Stockholm they went to Malen

in an open Ford where they visited at the home of her aunt. She also enjoyed a Christmas party which her uncle Carl Holstrand was giving at Vaid for his school children. A school teacher there is known by the name of "magistrate" instead of teacher.

The days at this time of the year are very short, being only from 8 o'clock until 2 p. m. when it gets dark again. The country, however, she stated was very beautiful. They will return to Brainerd some time next summer before the first part of June.

$861 Paid in Wolf Bounties
Money paid out by the county in wolf bounties in the past six months totaled $861, it was announced today at the county auditor's office as application was made to the state for reimbursement.

NOTICE

The Brainerd Live Stock Shipping Association's annual meeting will be held on Monday, January 13 at 1 o'clock in the Farmers Room at the Court House.

WOMEN BOWLERS MEET

The Cottage Grill strengthened its hold on first place in the Ladies' League by defeating Service News two games. Dorothy Hanson with scores of 127, 115 and 137, rolled high total in this match and Marcella Kampmann high game with 148.

Northern States Power whitewashed the Princess Kandy Kids, winning all three games by good margins. Mrs. Anton Swanson rolled a big 410 for the evening's high total. Her last game of 161 was high single count for the evening. Elaine Hartley also rolled consistently well with scores of 133, 144 and 120 for a 397 total. Mrs. Evans rolled high total for her team with 340. The ladies are fast improving as can be seen by the scores, which are as follows:

Razing of Babylon Not Completed by Darius

Babylon was never entirely destroyed after the time of the conquest by Darius, described in the Book of Daniel. That conquest took place in the year 521 B. C., but except that part of the walls was razed during a rebellion in 514, Darius did not destroy systematically. His son Xerxes, destroyed part of the great temple of Bel, or Baal, called E-Sagilla, which was also a fortress. The religion of Darius, however, was monotheistic zoroastrianism and because of this many temples fell into disrepair. About 312 B. C. a dynasty arose called the Seleucids, founded by a general of Alexander the Great. He conquered Babylon in 323. When the Seleucids founded the new capital Seleucia near Babylon they used the ancient city as a quarry and there is record that in 275 B. C. all the inhabitants of Babylon were transported to the new town, though it is known that religious services were still held in the old temple of Bel a century later.—Montreal Family Herald.

GRILL FIVE KEEP HOLD ON FIRST

MRS. ANTON SWANSON HITS THE PINS FOR HIGH SCORE AS WOMEN BOWLERS MEET

The Cottage Grill strengthened its hold on first place in the Ladies' League by defeating Service News two games. Service News, crippled by a blind, however, came through with good counts to win the last game. Dorothy Hanson with scores of 127, 115 and 137, rolled high total in this match and Marcella Kampmann high game with 148.

Northern States Power whitewashed the Princess Kandy Kids, winning all three games by good margins. Mrs. Anton Swanson rolled a big 410 for the evening's high total. Her last game of 161 was high single count for the evening. Elaine Hartley also rolled consistently well with scores of 133, 144 and 120 for a 397 total. Mrs. Evans rolled high total for her team with 340. The ladies are fast improving as can be seen by the scores, which are as follows:

VON PORAT IS 7 TO 5 FAVORITE TO DEFEAT PAOLINO UZCUDUN

Razing of Babylon Not Completed by Darius

Babylon was never entirely destroyed after the time of the conquest by Darius, described in the Book of Daniel. That conquest took place in the year 521 B. C., but except that part of the walls was razed during a rebellion in 514, Darius did not destroy systematically. His son Xerxes, destroyed part of the great temple of Bel, or Baal, called E-Sagila, which was also a fortress. The religion of Darius, however, was monotheistic zoroastrianism and because of this many temples fell into disrepair. About 312 B. C. a dynasty arose called the Seleucids, founded by a general of Alexander the Great. He conquered Babylon in 323. When the Seleucids founded the new capital Seleucia near Babylon they used the ancient city as a quarry and there is record that in 275 B. C. all the inhabitants of Babylon were transported to the new town, though it is known that religious services were still held in the old temple of Bel a century later.—Montreal Family Herald.

But That's Different

Even after a motor car owner has privately condemned his own car in no uncertain language, he is surprised to hear how little a dealer will allow him for it on a trade.—Des Moines Register.
